WE NOMINATE

Edward Daniel Sullivan, energetic and businesslike Chairman of Princeton University's Department of Romance Languages and Literatures and the catalyst in launching an effective three-way partnership dedicated to giving American college students a broad-gauged understanding of other countries. This week approaching the halfway point in its fifth successive summer of ever-expanding operations, the Sullivan-directed Princeton Program for Summer Work Abroad could point to 87 undergraduates drawn from 16 colleges and universities who are currently holding paying jobs in a half-dozen European and Latin American nations.

It was six years ago that the 49-year-old Sullivan and several of his colleagues, notably Victor Lange, Chairman of German Languages, began pondering the possibilities of having students of promise "gain insights into other civilizations by working side-by-side with workers overseas." The program was initiated in 1959 with a handful of Princetonians deployed in France and Germany and the following year caught the eye of the Carnegie Corporation of New York. With American institutions screening outstanding candidates, and with the Carnegie Corporation subsidizing travel, the jobs are provided by some 70 cooperating industries, banks, hotels, and assorted business enterprises.

In discussing the program, which is essentially a "Do-It-Yourself Scholarship" undertaking, Sullivan, a Princetonian since 1916, emphasizes that "these men are not expected to be politicians, engineers or specialists, but rather are students of the humanities and the social sciences. In selecting them, the one requirement is that they speak the foreign language well, after which we look for the qualities which will make a man an effective representative of this country abroad: intelligence, steadiness, adaptability, willingness to work energetically and meet unforeseeable conditions, plus a keen interest in the history, institutions, and people of the country in which he works."

This summer, Sullivan reports, 39 men are working in Germany, another 30 in France, eight in Italy, six in Venezuela, three in Spain, and one in Colombia. The positions, each of which is of about two months' duration and provides a salary covering an individual's board and room, range from heavy industry and utilities in airlines and even art galleries. For instance, one Princeton resident, Princeton Junior Norman L. Cantor, 213 Mercer Street, is based in Turin, Italy, where he is employed in the Fiat Works, while the community's second representative, Robert Carvick, 260 Prospect Avenue, a Union College sophomore, is bustling trays in the Restaurant de la Tour, Yonne, France.

While teaching in pre-Pearl Harbor years at Harvard and Radcliffe, Sullivan, Boston-born and Harvard trained, was among the innovators of a series of foreign language broadcasts overseas which served as an early model for programs subsequently beamed to the "Captive Nations." A naval veteran of World War II, whose Princeton career was interrupted by a recall to Korean War duty in a highly classified category, this first Chairman of the five-year-old Department of Romance Languages received the coveted Palmes Academiques from the French Government in 1960 in recognition of his contributions to international relations.

For helping develop an educational experience described by one French observer as the "most efficacious and attractive means for the realization of mutual understanding", for adding a new dimension to Americans' approach to "area studies"; for combining these heavy extracurricular responsibilities with his own scholarly achievements, he is our nominee as

DON'T RISK YOUR EYES!

At Saturday's Eclipse. From 4:41 to 6:49 Saturday afternoon, the solar system will stage its most dramatic and widely visible spectacular — an eclipse of the sun that will be observable in some degree by about 275,000,000 North Americans. For those who don't mind waiting, there will be a repeat performance during 2017.

The eclipse, which will be "total" over a 50-mile swath on this continent from such points as Akulurak, Alaska, to Asbestos, Quebec, and Aurora, Maine, will reach its maximum for Princeton at 5:49 p.m. EDT. The first nibble out of the sun's rays by the moon's shadow at 4:41 here will culminate in an eclipse of 87% totality one hour and eight minutes later.

Awe-inspiring to such a degree that it is still incorrectly called "supernatural," an eclipse is potentially highly dangerous — to anyone who makes the mistake of looking at it. This is the confirmed and informed opinion of three Princetonians, among others, whose professions amply qualify them to give this sharp warning on the perils of amateur sun-gazing you could be blinded.

The three are noted scientists Dr. Lyman Spitzer Jr., chairman, University's Department, Astro-Physical Sciences, meteorologist David M. Ludlum, head of Princeton's weatherwise Science Associates Inc., and Dr. Henry Abrams, chief of Princeton Hospital's ophthalmology section. The consensus of their opinion on how to look directly at the eclipse: an unequivocal "Don't!"

THE SAFE WAY TO VIEW THE ECLIPSE: Steve Benson demonstrates the use of a shoebox as one projection device for watching Saturday's eclipse. Dr. Henry Abrams, chief of ophthalmology at Princeton Hospital, checks it over. Steve stands with his back to the sun; sun's rays penetrate pinhole in left end of shoebox, project image inside on right end.

How Eye Damage Is Caused. These three know that, following every major solar eclipse, there are thousands of cases of severe eye-damage and some cases of permanent blindness as a result of looking at the phenomenon through inadequate protective devices. For example, during the 1960 solar eclipse, more than 200 people in one Northwest area suffered serious eye injuries. A majority of the injured were children.

"Most people, children especially, don't realize that it takes only a split second of exposure to the direct rays of the sun to cause, under some circumstances, permanent blindness," said Dr. Abrams. "Contrary to popular belief, dark sun glasses are no protection. Nor are there any filters generally available that make it possible to view an eclipse safely."

"Smoked glass, which many people once believed to be sufficient protection, is inadequate. So are welders' goggles," Dr. Abrams continued. "Even two or three sheets of heavily-exposed film will not necessarily screen out enough of the damaging infra-red rays to be safe."

What makes an eclipse so particularly dangerous is that it does its damage painlessly and insidiously. As the darkness increases, the observer can look at the sun without squinting. In the meantime, the pupils of the eyes are dilating more and more — and then comes the piercing thrust of infra-red rays that continue after most of the sun's visible rays are hidden.

No Pain, But... No warning pain is felt by the viewer as the rays pass through the pupils to the center of the retina, even if the radiation burns a hole in the highly susceptible, sensitive screen.

"Comparatively minor burn damage to the retina causes incurable blurring of sight," according to Dr. Abrams. "Medium damage results in the destruction of all but peripheral sight. Greater damage means total blindness."

The only safe way for amateurs to watch the eclipse, say Drs. Spitzer and Abrams and Mr. Ludlum is by the so-called "projection method." By this means the observer looks at an image of the eclipse rather than at the sun. Some easily fashioned projectors:

- Take a carton, put a pin-hole in one end and a piece of white paper inside the opposite end. Stand with your back to the sun, let the rays shine through the pin-hole onto the white paper. There you'll see the eclipse clearly and safely.
- Or a shoebox will do. Use only the bottom, make a hole in one of the ends, then hold the shoebox, bottom up, over your head.

- If you can't find a carton or shoebox, apply the same principle to a couple of pieces of cardboard.
- Or, if this is still too much trouble, just look under any tree through which sunlight is filtering. The leaves will serve as a pin-hole lens and you'll see the eclipse reflected right on the ground.

- Still too much effort? Then the best way to view the show (and in its totality) is on TV.

Science and Superstition Though informed professional in the fields of astrophysics, meteorology and medicine are genuinely and rightfully concerned about the potential dangers of amateur eclipse-viewing, apprehension about the phenomenon has existed almost as long as the recorded history of man. Most of the earlier fears were unfounded but they frequently bordered on the violent.

According to records, for instance, a Chinese emperor once had a couple of his astrologers deprived of their heads because they were busy researching the effects of rice wine rather than attending to the more necessary business of foretelling a solar eclipse. This was back about 1952 B.C.

Primitive Nursemen had eclipses figured out this way: the sun is being chased by a huge wolf, see, who every so often almost manages to gobble it, but just misses. In the Orient, until fairly recently, it was a dragon doing the chasing. Not scientifically correct explanations, obviously, but at least indicative of free-wheeling imagination.

A solar eclipse once even stopped a war which had been dragging on between the Medes and the Lydians for five years. On May 28, 585 B.C., the moon passed between the sun and the earth. The event shook up the troops to such an extent that they quit the armor-banging forthwith and bugged out for home.

Since 600 B.C., the prediction of solar eclipses has also been going on for a good long time. Sometime before 600 B.C., the Babylonians correctly figured out the "saros" cycle, as they called it, by which they could set up a reasonably accurate eclipse time-table.

Yet, even today the precise time of an eclipse can not be predicted. Because of some still undetermined variation in the moon's motion through space, estimates can miss by a few seconds one way or the other.

Round-Up

The drought's officially over, as Mercer County Agricultural Agent Richard Lippincott sees matters following Sunday's three-quarter inch rainfall. Another inch next week would be welcome, he admits, but Sunday's steady precipitation was a ten-hour soaker.

There has, however, been a great deal of irreparable damage as a result of the prolonged dry spell that began in April and stretched through June. The State Department of Agriculture reports that "as of July 1, overall crop and pasture prospects in New Jersey were the poorest since 1949" as of mid-July, the rainfall deficit measured from the first of the year was almost seven inches in Mercer County.

Temperatures ranged below normal all last week, lunched by Tuesday's record-setting low of 45 and only topping 80 twice. The heat and the humidity were both forecast to move higher as the current week progressed.

The second annual appeal for books to be given to children of migrant farm workers is being made this week by Male's Book Shop. Originated by Mrs. Emma Epps of 41 Witherspoon Street, the drive produced hundreds of contributions a year ago, and "Emma's Carlton II" is now ready to receive outgrown children's books at Male's, 203 Nassau.

The Community Players report "very satisfactory" response in last week's piece in TOWN TOPICS asking for the use of a barn, loft or other storage space for upwards of 500 costumes and other theatrical paraphernalia. Negotiations with owners are under way and the Players' problem may be solved this summer.

Summer Safari note: Township Committee meeting Monday night was enlivened by the reading of a letter from James Hesler, New York University President, praising Sgt. Lester Anderson for prompt and efficient service in removing a snake from the basement of his Woodland Drive home. Having merely deposited the 18-inch corn snake in a milk bottle before carrying it away, Sgt. Anderson opened and closed his press conference with a "shucks-it-was-nothing" comment.

TEENAGE TORPOR?

Activity Needs Surveyed. "Where did you go?" "Out." "What did you do?" "Nothing." That bit of dialogue was used a few years ago to sum up the perennial lack of communication between youth and its elders and to deplore the current dearth of fun-and-games for teenagers.

The same terse conversation might well be used to sum up the findings of a survey of young Princetonians' recreational needs today. The study, conducted by the opinion-probing research firm of Gallup & Robinson Inc. as a contribution to the Princeton Council of Community Services, was made during the last week in May among students at the high school.

Not that a lot of the youngsters don't want things to keep them better occupied in their spare time. Quite the contrary. Nearly half of the 1,080 who answered the questions say that there isn't "anything" for them to do in their spare time, either "most of the time" or "a good many times."

By the same token, more than half claim that they would be very much interested in new free time recreation facilities, according to the survey figures released this week by the Council's Recreation Committee. A full report of the study has been issued to the Mayor and Borough Council, the Township Mayor and Committee and the Recreation Committee of both municipalities.

What We Want Is... Since "Time on My Hands" comes up repeatedly as the theme song of half of those answering the questionnaire, what's the solution? About 40% of the students suggest "hangouts where we can get cokes and 140,000,000 YEARS ARE BRIDGED FOR LIBRARY CHILDREN: Edward Lyden, X-ray mineralogist and research assistant for the Biology Department of Princeton University, points to the large, tooth-lined jaw of an Antrodemus to young readers of the Princeton Public Library. The tour through Guyot Hall to see rock formations, birds and fossils such as the Antrodemus was part of a summer program sponsored by the Public Library and arranged under the guidance of Miss Patricia Kirchkesner, children's librarian. The trip was so successful that children had to be turned away, but a second will be held next Thursday, July 25, at 1:30.

shakes." Second choice: a swinging juke-joint, favored by approximately one-quarter. Third: more swimming facilities, named by an amphibious 21%.

Or, converting these percentages (last year's) to 1,580 total school enrollment, 600 would favor hanging out in hangouts (a somewhat limp, but comfortable form of pastime), 363 would prefer a more jumping pad with dancing, 332 chose swimming.

About two-thirds of the students say that they would be "very likely" to use a hangout during the school year, and about the same number say they would most probably use it during the summer. Over half say that the dancing facilities would be something they'd very likely use the year 'round.

Nearly 70%, or a possible 1,106, say that they would be very likely to use additional outdoor swimming facilities during the summer. If so, it suggests that the need for a king-size pool in Princeton is of paramount importance.

To Do Nothing Is Something. Only a small amount of time appears to be spent in the obviously difficult task of doing "nothing," according to the survey. A lot of hours are spent staring back at the glaring eye of TV, to be sure, but that in itself can't be counted as doing nothing, adult lamentations to the contrary.

Over one-third claim that they participate in activities sponsored by the Princeton "Y", with dances and swimming leading the list in popularity. Non-participation in "Y" activities seems to arise, according to the survey report, from an apparent lack of interest and general apathy towards the "Y" programs.

All in all, the survey shows that Princeton's current teenagers are not really as much different from their elders at that same age as is sometimes thought. They like to spend hours huddling over a coke. So did their parents. They favor more opportunity for dancing. So did their parents.

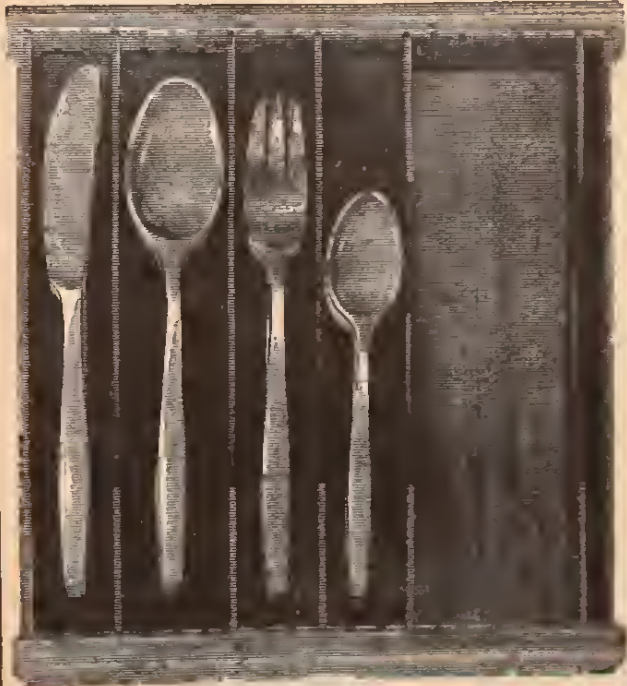

The chief difference between teenagers now and a few decades ago might well be quantitative rather than qualitative. And, because they

YOUR CARPET QUESTIONS

For how long or for how many cleanings will a manufacturer's "Moth-Proofing" process be guaranteed? Is there a similar "Carpet Beetle" proof? All wool?

Most major mills guarantee the rug to be permanently moth-proofed for the life of the carpet regardless of the number of shampoos. Perhaps all mills do this but I can't say for sure.

There is a similar "Beetle Proof" Guarantee.

However, this is only true of rugs purchased recently and does not include orientals. Older rugs and all orientals ought to be moth and beetle-proofed. We use Berlon moth-proofing and it is guaranteed for three years.

The study of eclipses has, in the recent past, been among the major astronomical interests of Princeton scientists. Professor John Q. Stewart, who retired this June from the University faculty, is affectionately referred to by at least one of his admirers as "Mr. Eclipse."

His son, John W., now a member of the University of Virginia Department of Physics, follows in his father's stardust. An article he wrote appeared in a scientific journal last year. Called "The Total Solar Eclipse of 20 July 1963," it gave a detailed account of the forthcoming event and the weather conditions likely to prevail in the path of totality.

To Test a Theory. Another Princetonian, though no longer living, will be much in the minds of members of the numerous research teams now on location in Canada to study this Saturday's eclipse. For only with a total solar eclipse are scientists able to test further one of the basic predictions of Einstein's relativity theory.

Dr. Einstein predicted that the beam of light from a star, passing close to the sun, would be bent by solar gravity 1.745 seconds of arc. In 1919 two British expeditions recorded deflections of 1.61 and 1.98. This Saturday, a team from the Munich Observatory, camped on the shores of Great Slave Lake in Canada, will seek an even more precise figure with the aid of greatly improved equipment.

Expeditions to study the eclipse with the aid of jet planes, rockets, and every available astronomical observation instrument have converged on the path of totality in droves. The reason: the chances to study the sun in eclipse add up to only a little over two hours in a hundred years, and there is still much to be learned.

But, to repeat the urgent caution against possible permanent eye-damage to amateur eclipsophiles in Princeton: leave the direct observation on Saturday in the experts. Make an indirect projection device if you will; or, best of all, wait to see the whole show on television.

are now a considerably larger and therefore more important segment of the Princeton family, maybe they'll finally get that swimming pool, for instance, that their parents were always wishing and waiting for years ago.

LIQUOR PERMIT DENIED

By Township Committee. One liquor store in Princeton Township is plenty. That was the decision of the Township Committee Monday night when it unanimously rejected an application from Roger W. Yard and Arthur B. Yard for a plenary retail distribution license.

The Yards had hoped to install a liquor store in the Rug and Furniture Mart building at 51 State Road. Their application had met the requirements of the Alcohol Beverage Control, and they had paid the necessary $300 license fee.

Under state law, a municipality is allowed one retail liquor store license for every 5,000 residents. The 1960 population of the Township was slightly over 10,000.

But a Township ordinance, passed in 1939, still limits the number of liquor stores in the Township to one. Claridge Wine and Liquor Store at the Shopping Center is the current holder of the permit.

Mayor Fairman Returns. Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman, back at his post after surgery seven weeks ago in New York, said that Township Committee has been fully aware of the possibilities of amendment of the local law. Consensus of committee opinion was, however, that there is no immediate need for the issuance of another license.

Final passage of a $176,000 appropriation for a sewer system for the Hillside Avenue area was also voted at Monday's meeting. If state health board approval and the granting of easements proceed as planned, construction on the project may start before this fall, according to Township Engineer Frank L. Quinby.

Residents of the Hillside area who were present at the meeting were told that only Another treat!

No more than three-quarters of an inch, but it rained steadily for almost ten hours to bring the 1963 drought to an end.

The Man says it's over for good. Too the long-range forecast for the next 30 days calls for above average rainfall along this section of the eastern seaboard. Some of it may come as early as Thursday, but, for a change, a clear weekend is being scheduled by the weather-makers.

$4,000 in engineering costs will be assessed against homeowners in that location. While no estimate of total assessments is currently available for the project, homeowners were told that they would not exceed the dollar value of benefit to the properties involved.

Three new ordinances were also introduced at last night's hearing. Final hearings on them will be held at the August 19 committee meeting.

One would restrict parking to two hours between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. on the east side of Witherspoon Street in the Township. It is aimed at discouraging all-day parking in that particular location and at facilitating patients' access to offices in the Medical Arts Building.

The second would prohibit parking between 2 a.m. and 6 a.m. on Township portions of Witherspoon and Moore Streets and Harris and Jefferson Roads. This would eliminate all-night parking by Borough residents on those streets.

The final ordinance introduced at the meeting is to appropriate $2,000 towards the building of a temporary bypass on The Great Road during the construction of a new bridge near the end of Mountain Avenue. At the urging of Committeeman William L. Wilson, it was voted to pay the bill from operating funds rather than to finance the amount.

The committee also approved the petition of residents of Ronald Lane to change the street's name to Hemlock Circle or Dovetree Lane. In addition, the committee announced that it will meet with Borough Council representatives next week to consider proposals for a park and recreation center at Community Gardens on State Road.

MARRIED 50 YEARS
Hutchinsons to Celebrate.
Harry Elijah and Marion Hutchinson will mark their 50th wedding anniversary on Friday with a quiet celebration at their home, 14 Wilton Street. They were married July 19, 1913, in Astoria, I. I., and came to Princeton to live that same summer.

Mr. Hutchinson retired in 1952 from the Princeton Water Company where he had worked for 54 years. He was secretary-treasurer of the company at that time.

Mr. Hutchinson has long been a member of the Masonic Order, and held the position of Grand Master on the state level in 1937. He belongs to Princeton Lodge No. 38.

Mrs. Hutchinson recalls the era of no Sunday movies and the "dead little town" Princeton was during the summer. She used to take their son, Robert, over to Golden Pier's dairy on Witherspoon Street (where the Hospital now stands) to see the cows.

A graduate of Princeton University with the class of 1941, Robert is now assistant professor of mineralogy at the Colorado School of Mines in Golden, and has five girls and two boys. He is working in the field and will be unable to join his parents this week.

The Hutchinsons built the third house on Jefferson Road after their marriage and lived there at No. 83 for 38 years.

SCOOTER ACCIDENT FATAL

Miss Ruedy Dies in France.
Miss Elsa Ruedy, 25, of 561 Lake Drive, died of injuries after being struck by a car while traveling in France on her motor scooter. The fatal accident was believed to have occurred Monday. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Ruedy, received a cable the following day but the information it contained was not complete.

Miss Ruedy had been in Wurtzberg, Germany, since September as a teacher in the Armed Forces elementary school, and was touring through Switzerland, Spain and France prior to the accident.

She was a graduate of Princeton High School and received her B.S. degree from the University of Michigan where she was a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority.

DROWNING Averted

By Heather Sommers, Miss Heather Sommers, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Sommers Jr., recently saved a 13-year-old boy from drowning at Perch Lake, Wis. William Zappa was dragged from the lake by Miss Sommers' cousin, Richard James 14, and she revived him "in a matter of minutes" by mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

William was believed by his mother to be swimming under water until she and others on the shore became alarmed by his disappearance.

Miss Sommers, who lives at 207 Riverside Drive, was visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Sommers of Hudson, Wis. She is a graduate of Princeton High School, where she learned the life-saving technique from a film shown in the first aid course. She will attend Douglass College in the fall as a freshman.

THREE CARS LEAVE ROAD

In Separate Accidents, Three cars left the road Sunday in separate accidents here. The day's heavy rain was a factor in two of the mishaps.

At 5:30 in the afternoon Joseph H. Lepold, 21, of Trenton skidded into the south side of the Stony Brook Bridge. He told police that he was traveling between 20 and 25 miles per hour when his car went into a skid just as he was approaching the bridge. Mr. Lepold was uninjured but his car was towed to the Circle Esso.

THE BOY STOOD ON THE BURNING DECK: Cliff Robertson, as Lt. (j.g.) John F. Kennedy, surveys bomb damage to the LST bringing him to the South Pacific and his assignment as PT boat skipper. "PT 109" is currently at the Prince and the Playhouse.

News Of The THEATRES

AUDITIONS PLANNED

By Opera Association. Auditions for appearances in future performances of the Princeton Opera Association have been scheduled for Saturday, July 27. Open to all interested singers and performers, they will begin at 2 o'clock, with arrangements to be made through Mrs. Eleanor Holley at WA 1-7318.

The association has given successful performances here and in Trenton, and has been invited to appear again in that city. Other performances by invitation are scheduled for New Brunswick and Philadelphia.

PLAYHOUSE and PRINCE

PT 109 (Through Tuesday) is a fully loaded, slightly wooden account of Skipper John Fitzgerald Kennedy's adventures in his saltine hotrod during World War II. That JFK displayed great heroism is shown with utmost precision in this two-and-a-half hour tale of the South Pacific.

It must also have required considerable heroism for JFK to sit through the movie without flinching at some of the words put into his mouth by the writers. Danny Kaye and/or Walter Mitty could have used them better.

Take Kennedy's riposte to a goh whose total war effort is concentrated on getting shipped home. When the sailor nudges Mister K with the suggestion that the Skip could easily arrange a comfortable transfer for both of them, he is drilled with: "Sorry, Rogers — and I'm surprised at you."

Then there's the time when Ty Hardin, 109's second-in-command, asks his boss: "Think these men will do a good job for us?" "If we do a good job for them," is the noble answer.

Still, the sequence of the Jap destroyer slicing through PT 109's cheesebox hull and the heroics that follow come off well. It isn't till the survivors reach land that Mister Kennedy again resembles Mister Roberts more than he does himself.

"PT 109" attempts to promote two campaigns: one in the South Pacific, the other scheduled for the U.S. in 1964. If it had concentrated on the former, it would have made a rewarding little study of wartime heroism. By including the latter, it suffers from an overdose of bathetic hero-worship.

There is, however, one easy-to-swallow antidote: Cliff Robertson in no way tries to sound or act either like JFK or like Vaughn Meader. Nor did the scripters yield to the temptation of writing in Brother Bobby as 109's exec.

GARDEN

Heavens Above! (Through Tuesday) The amiable and adaptable Peter Sellers, surely one of the best of the many fine British comedians, this time shows up as a vicar. In his round-collar role he again demonstrates his ability to get better and better even if his material doesn't.

Based on a wispy bit by that purple people-hater Malcolm Muggeridge, "Heavens Above!" takes a dig, albeit a not very deep one, at the Church of England and the stuffy, petty sinfulness of the parishoners of Orbiston Parva, typical Home County village. Sellers, the holier-than-thou-and-them-cleric, is "called" to his new ministry from his post as a prison chaplain through churchly bureaucratic bumbling.

Orbiston Parva is typical Home County parish and all that type of thing, yet atypical in that it is the nerve-center of a chemotherapeutic called Tranquilax ("A sedative! A stimulant! A laxative!"). The unabashedly venal inhabitants contest Sellers by trying to spread unctuous oil on the troublesome holy waters with which he wants to lave them of their sins.

"Heavens Above!" was made by the jolly Bolling brothers, whose "I'm All Right, Jack" thumbed Sellers his juiciest plum to date. The tale of Orbiston Parva is a melange of very amusing takes blended together with satire: Sellers thoughtfully leeching on dog biscuits along with a spot of Duff Gordon, Sellers thoughtlessly stepping into an open grave during a blinding down-pour, a clutch of clerics on a train reacting sharply to a call for "the last supper" by the dining car steward.

Mr. Sellers' notably attractive performance as the Vicar of Unawakefield is most capably supported by Cecil Parker, Ian Carmichael and Isabel Jeans. Nobody in Orbiston Parva bombs Sellers, and "Heavens Above!" sums up as a rare good roast of Olde England. You'll like it.

STARS ON THE DELAWARE

At New Hope, Lambertville. A new comedy by Alfred Palca, titled "Annette and Two Guitars," will open Monday at the Bucks County Playhouse in New Hope. Mary McCarty and Eileen Brennan will be the co-stars for the two-week pre-Broadway engagement.

Featured players will be Gerald Hiken (a McCarty veteran), Alan Alda and Paddy Edwards. The director is Charles Bowden. The comedy deals with three girls as would-be art thieves after a Picasso painting unexpectedly comes their way.

Next Thursday, July 25, Kajar The Magician will entertain children at two performances, given at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. The final performances of "Jenny Kissed Me" will be given this week on the regular schedule.

"Carnival!" at Music Circus. The 1962 musical comedy, "Carnival!", is running at the Lambertville Music Circus through July 27. The leading roles are taken by Marcia King, John Cater and Daniel Keyes, directed by Robert Turoff.

To Us

WHERE TO PUT IT ALL?

Bamberger's Makes Room.
You know how it is... you have so many clothes, and not nearly enough room to hang them all, and where to put all the new ones you buy!

Faced with the same problem, Bamberger's has made more room even as you and I. They have done it by moving the silverware and the china, which may be slightly incommotious in a home because who wants to keep blouses and skirts in a china cupboard? But it makes eminent good sense in a department store.

Anyhow, if you want knife, fork, cup, saucer or scissor and coat-hanger because notions and closet accessories have been moved, too) you go up the escalator and around to your left to the spot in front of the Chantrey hair-dressing corner, the place where they put sporting goods at Christmas time, and there you will find giftwares.

Downstairs, where all these things used to be, are clothes and clothes and more clothes, a much wider range of junior, misses and women's styles and a new maternity department.

Dress, coat and suit departments have been substantially enlarged, and misses sportswear is almost twice the size it was before. Customers under five feet four now have their own corner, and juniors not only have their own location, but also separate fitting rooms. (This may not reduce the deebie count of teen-age squealing, but it will keep it from those who are trying on a size 18.)

A new maternity department is completely separate and private, with its own fitting rooms.

All together, the changes and alterations just about double the area devoted to women's ready-to-wear in Bamberger's. Incidentally, Mirror Room top-fashion sportswear is also available.

HAVE A PIECE OF CAKE

French Apple, to Start. French apple cake looks like a big, 10-inch pie except that it has a meandering of white frosting over the top. Lift it and you know it's no pie: heavy as can be with a good pound or more of rich apples cut up inside. Well, Put on a pot of coffee and get out the sharp knife.

The French apple cake is a feature these days at the Princeton Delicatessen Bakery, part of the complex on Route One that includes the Prince Theatre, the bowling alley, the Palmer Motor Inn, and so on.

The del-bakery is open seven days a week, 9 a.m. to 10 p.m., including Sundays, and baked goods are a featured feature.

Besides the apple cake, there are eight-inch, three-layer cakes of devil's food, coconut, lemon and the like, for 90 cents. A heavy, whipped cream cake fashioned with real, true whipped cream, not the aerosol kind, is $1.10 or $1.40, depending on how many calories you are counting. We like the cake with the strawberry on top.)

If you order a cake, for birthday or anniversary, you have a choice of nine fillings, like chocolate, lemon, cherry, cream, pineapple and so on. Allow about two days for the order, if you can.

On the cookie side, there are all-butter cookies in the traditional shapes: sandwiches filled with chocolate, shells, ovals rolled in decorates.

But the shop is a delicatessen, too, and when you turn away from the bakery counter, you'll find four kinds of salami, including Jewish, Pennsylvania Dutch and Genoa, ham and turkey to slice, Kosher and standard haloney from Seiler and Hickory Valley.

Cat's Cradle

Turning away from the Children's Activity Books just long enough to sneeze, we caught in the corner of one eye a fascinating title in the adult art book section at Male's Book Shop.

"String Figures and How to Make Them," it's called, with a subtitle: "Cat's Cradle in Many Lands." Paperback, over an inch thick, $2.

We found that people have been making cat's cradles for who knows how long in such widely separated spots as New Guinea, Germany, the Philippines, and in the tents and pueblos of the American Indians — almost any tribe you can name.

Eskimo women can make a string figure of a seal that slips and slides up and down the hand, but they have those long winter nights to practice in. We looked at all the diagrams in the book, studied them thoughtfully, then turned back to Activities for Children. We're in the 4-7 age bracket.

Farms. There is cheese to match, of course.

Rokeach is the Kosher brand in this delicatessen. Cold borscht for a summer lunch? Chicken with matzo balls for supper?

Inside the big, vertical refrigerator are Sealtest lemonade, grapeade and orangeade. Pepperidge Farm turnovers and frozen patty shells. In fact, the Princeton Delicatessen Bakery is the perfect place to shop for a last-minute party of any kind. If you don't need the Dolly Madison ice cream and the Pepperidge Farm cookies, you will probably need the cocktail onions, the Wise corn doodles, onion-garlic potato, maccaroni and coleslaw salads.

Savoyards in Trouble

The Savoyards of Princeton have found it necessary to mark their eighth year by flying the red ink flag of distress. Mounting financial problems threaten the organization's future, according to John Clum, president of the group which brings an annual Gilbert and Sullivan production to Princeton.

Reporting that a sizeable deficit incurred during the past few seasons has resulted in the steady use of red ink in bookkeeping, Mr. Clum points out that "musical productions are extremely costly and box office receipts have just not been enough to cover the high costs." The Savoyards operate on a non-profit basis and extend membership throughout the University and Princeton community.

Contributions are essential to future activity, Mr. Clum reports. They will be welcomed by the Savoyards of Princeton in his car at 18 Arrowhead Road, Convent Station, N. J.

The special attractions at the Music Circus include an 11 a.m. performance this Saturday of the children's musical, "Who's Afraid of the Big, Bad Wolf"; a folk song festival with Odeita at 4 Sunday afternoon, and the Monday night jazz special with Ahmad Jamal at 8:30.

AT NEW HOPE: Eileen Brennan, co-star of "Annette and Two Guitars," will be at the Bucks County Playhouse through Saturday, August 3.

It's New To Us

keep-em-rolling item) comes from the statisticians at Male's Book Shop, where children's books are held in particular esteem.

Acorn Books now has 79-cent paperbacks devoted to Adventure! Romance! Mystery! and Sports! Our 79 cents goes to "Becky Landers—Frontier Warrior" (old Kentucky, and to "High Stepping Horse," an anthology of horse stories by Poe, Mark Twain, Saroyan, Conan Doyle etc. etc. etc.

For boys, there are stories about the past ("Guns at Quebec"), present ("High Challenge"), a glider story and a combination of the two ("Scimitar of Saladin," about archaeology). For girls, there is romance, a lot of it about nurses but also some about disappointed young actresses who find The Larger Life.

Isn't it delightful to find a book you thought was out of print? We found at Male's "Animal Lore and Disorder," a book to send a second grader into a delicious afternoon of hysterics.

Pages are divided in half horizontally. Animals are on the right-hand pages, descriptive captions on the left. Turn the pages unequally and you find a turtle's top and a bear's legs and mixed up captions, probably one that reads (as one, indeed, does): "This animal used to roam about the world long before man existed, and it sometimes bites the postman in the mornings by mistake." See?

Activity Books are designed to keep them busy at all costs, in this case, $1. Girls, 7-11, can make bookmarks by decorating the cut-off corners of envelopes. Youngsters confronted with the Playtime Package (ages 4-7) can decide which picture doesn't belong in a row of objects. Or just color.

"Fun and Play All the Way" suggests games for little travelers and jokes to suit the countryside. We like Farmer: "We go to bed with the chickens." Cily slicker: "We sleep in our own beds."

Male's also has the books you can buy with your own allowance, books which are splendidly free of History, Science, or Literature. How about Bob Black's "Trail of the Moaning Ghost," or "Trail of the Witchwood Treasure," or those long, long rows of Sue Barton, Girl Nurse; and The Hardy Boys? (Wait until the family has gone to bed, then read them under the covers by flashlight.)

Baker, 111, 18, 142 Mercer Street, skidded on the rain-wet Cherry Hill Road, opposite number 512.

According to Township police, Mr. Baker said he was traveling about 50 miles per hour as he approached a curve, skidded and continued off the road. He was issued a summons for careless driving.

Howard E. Cupples, 38, of Hughes Drive, Trenton, was the first to skid that day. At 2 in the morning, his car went into a skid on Quaker Road between the Updike and Carey farms. Mr. Cupples received abrasions of the shoulder and face.

Police report that his car, after it went into a skid, traveled first to the left side of the road, then back to the right side. It continued on through a fence bordering a pasture of the Updike farm and flipped over, coming to rest on its side. The car was a total loss.

BIRTH LIST

VOCAL CONCERT FRIDAY

In High School Auditorium. The Westminster Choir Vocal Camp will give its final concert Friday at 8 in the High School auditorium. The concert is open to the public free of charge, but tickets should be obtained from the Choir College office.

The camp, with an enrollment of 240, has been in session since July 1 under the direction of Prof. James C. McKeever, former chairman of the voice department and currently director of church relations at the College. This is the third summer Prof. McKeever has directed the school.

Evening concerts have been given for the group by Mrs. Joan Lippicott, organist; David Wells, cellist; and Joseph Kovacs, violinist. They are members of the College's faculty.

Assisting Prof. McKeever from the faculty were Lorraine Hodapp, Rosemary Russell, Robert Simpson, Herbert Pate, Mrs. Lippicott and Robert Abramson. Herbert Parks, an undergraduate, served as official accompanist.

On the staff were Jane Donaldson, Mrs. Vivian LeForge, Richard J. LeForge, Frances A. Cave, Donna Kowalczyk, Lois Patterson, Rosalind Vogler, Filbert L. Moore Jr., Lynford Saunders and Clayton Zeidler.

Dr. Joel Z. Felsher

INTERNIST ADDED

To Hospital Staff. Dr. Joel Z. Felsher has joined the associate staff at Princeton Hospital, with privileges in internal medicine.

The son of Mrs. E. A. Felsher of 16 Harris Road and the late Mr. Felsher, he is a graduate of Princeton High School, and Harvard University. He studied medicine at Northwestern University Medical School and received his M.D. from New York University-Bellevue Medical Center's College of Medicine.

Dr. Felsher served his internship at Kings County Hospital, New York, followed by two years in the Army — most of which was spent in Korea. He was resident in internal medicine at Kings County Hospital and chief resident and fellow in cardiology at Mercy Hospital, San Diego, Calif.

Dr. Felsher is associated in practice with Dr. Marvin R. Blumenthal.

LEAGUE IN FORMATION

For Lawrence Township. A group of women in Lawrence Township is organizing a League of Women Voters to take an effective part in the development of the township. They hope to gain members from all sections to bring together the north and south areas of Lawrence.

The preliminary committee includes: Mrs. Joyce Usiskin, 7 Bearfort Way, chairman; Mrs. Joan Rowland, 6 Barnett Road, membership; Mrs. Mary Ann Harmon, 20 Monroe Avenue, nominations; Mrs. Theresa Harrison, Carter Road, budget; Mrs. Mimi Levin, 57 Stonicker Drive, program; and Mrs. Diane Armington, 12 Darrah Lane East, by-laws.

Coffee hours have been scheduled to familiarize area residents with League policy and programs, and to discuss the benefits of forming a Lawrence League. Hostesses will be:

Mrs. Martha Crowley, 9 Bearfort Way, Thursday, 8:30 p.m.; Mrs. Ruth Seideman, 22 Lumar Road, Friday, 10 a.m.; Mrs. Marlene Wenograd, 326 Glenn Avenue, Tuesday, 10:30 a.m.; Mrs. Barbara Blatter, Florheim Road, Tuesday, 8:30 p.m.

Also, Mrs. Gloria Longhi, 2571 Main Street, Wednesday, July 24, 8:15 p.m.; Mrs. Virginia Kreutzer, 3 Tall Timbers Drive, Thursday, July 25, 1 p.m.; and Mrs. Bonnie Schwartz, 9 Darrah Lane East, Monday, August 12, 8:30 p.m.

Further information on the Lawrence League may be obtained at one of the coffee hours, or by calling Mrs. Rowland at TU 2-6526.

Thanks from Governor Hughes
To the Editor of Town Topics:

I should like to express my deepest appreciation for the kind article which appeared about me in the July 4th issue of TOWN TOPICS. Of course, I am most happy that you share my joy upon bringing the 1964 Democratic Convention to New Jersey.

It is my firm belief that this Convention will prove to be a great benefit to the entire State. I only wish that we could have persuaded the Republicans to convene here also.

Let me thank you also for your other kind comments. I sincerely hope that in the future I will live up to your expectations as Governor.

RICHARD J. HUGHES
Governor

Morven

To the Editor of Town Topics:

We wish to make known to the people of Princeton the story of what happened in town during the past two weeks when an older Negro couple attempted to move from their present apartment into an apartment in another residential area in the Borough. For obvious reasons, the names of the principals in this story are omitted. We tell it because these events speak far more clearly than a thousand generalities concerning racial discrimination and prejudice.

A short time ago, the Negro couple, respected, long-time residents of Princeton, learned of the availability of a two-room apartment on a quiet side street. For a number of reasons including lower rent, it seemed to them far more suitable than the one they now occupy. When they asked the owner, a white woman, if she would rent it to them, she said she would like to do so but would have to talk to her tenants.

A perfunctory survey of her tenants led her to believe there would be no trouble and she accepted a deposit from the couple. They were delighted with the prospect of their new home and moved in a few of their belongings.

Late Tuesday evening last week the owner, an elderly widow in ill health living alone, received two anonymous and angry phone calls concerning the new tenants. One of these warned her that she was in for trouble if she rented to Negroes.

Other neighbors had expressed their strong antagonism. Another call the next day announced, "This is the K. K. K."

These telephone calls had their effect on the owner. She became extremely alarmed and upset, both emotionally and physically.

After the Negro couple had applied for the apartment, the

Ernest Stewart Honored

The late Ernest T. Stewart, a resident of Princeton after World War II and former editor of the Alumni Weekly, was honored this month when the American Alumni Council dedicated its 50th anniversary conference in his honor.

Mr. Stewart became the Council's first executive secretary in 1951 and directed its growth for 12 years until his death last winter. The tribute to him says in part:

"Ernest Stewart embodied all that he hoped for in others—dedication, loyalty, integrity and uncompromising quality... he was one of those great people whose influence breaks the boundaries of time, and of whom death itself can claim only a small part."

owner had been in touch with the Princeton Housing Group and the Princeton Group for Human Rights. She now called their representatives to express her great fear and her consequent second thoughts.

The groups' representatives in turn spoke with the Negro couple. The couple knew that under the New Jersey state law prohibiting racial discrimination in apartment rentals, they could take the matter to court. They also knew the owner, the state of her health, her obvious sincerity.

The couple chose not to assert their rights. They chose, out of their regard for the owner, to undergo still another humiliating indignity and to take back another in a long line of returned deposits. They chose to consider of paramount importance not their rights but the feelings of a person who intended to do the right thing, but whose neighbors would not let her do the right thing.

We wonder how much longer events like this will be part of the story of Princeton, and of America. We wonder how much longer, in the face of denial and rejection, the motivations of this couple, and millions of other Negroes, can continue to be so humane. We wonder when we shall wake up to the power of racial injustice here in Princeton.

We trust that all men and women of good will will make their presence felt and their voices heard in this struggle, before it is too late.

SUMMER AIDES IN ACTION
At Princeton Hospital. Thirteen young men and women are serving as summer aides at Princeton Hospital during July and August. Many are planning careers in hospital work. Nurses' aides are Meta D. Thompson, Elsie J. Spinner and Nancy L. McHenry, Princeton High School graduates; Sandra E. Cook and Deborah Dollar, seniors at the High School; Pamela J. Hike of Pennington, and Agatha Silas, a graduate of Trenton High School.

Miss Spinner, in her third summer at the Hospital, is a student at Drew University in Madison, and Miss McHenry is studying at Carleton College, Northfield, Minn. Miss Hike is at Wellesley College, with Miss Thompson taking the pre-nursing course at MacMurray College, Jacksonville, Ill.

Michael S. Marcus, a student at Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa., is an orderly. He is a graduate of Trenton High School. Miss Ann L. Smith of Princeton is a student dietitian. She is a graduate of St. Gertrude High School, Richmond, Va., and is studying home economics at St. Joseph College, Emmitsburg, Md.

Third Summer in Lab. Joan E. Campbell of Flemington and Ralph F. Stroup of Princeton are spending their third summers as laboratory technologists. Miss Campbell is a graduate of the Hospital's school of medical technology and has her B.S. degree from the University of Michigan and M.S. from the University of Tennessee.

Mr. Stroup graduated from Princeton High, attended Rutgers University, and is a student at the University of Rochester's school of medicine. Theodore H. Kennedy Jr. is working in the laundry for the fourth summer, where his father is manager. He attends the Agricultural and Technical College, Greensboro, N.C.

Returning for his third summer as a groundsman in the maintenance department is Thomas C. Wilson, who will enter Dartmouth College this fall. He is the son of Mrs. William L. Wilson, director of volunteers.

HAY ELECTED CHIEF

OF YMCA Wapamagog Nation. A Donald Hay of 281 Shadybrook Lane has been elected chief of the Princeton YMCA Indian Guide Wapamagog Nation for the coming year.

Other officers who will serve him are Edward Coda, Choctaw; Richard F. Trader, Apache; Herbert Alexander, Navajo; and Frank Schley, Apache Sachem. Mr. Schley is the past Nation Chief.

The chairman of the Youth Committee, William S. Field, reported that the number of Indian Guides this year has increased from three to eight, and may increase to 12 or more.

in the near future. A special event for the tribes this year will be a camp-out scheduled in September.

EARLY BIRDS REWARDED

Part-Time Jobs Paid Off. A young woman not much older than her students began teaching at Princeton High School 41 years ago. There was no foretelling the priceless gift she would make.

Her imaginative mind took her far beyond the classroom teaching of bookkeeping, typing and shorthand. She was a pioneer who gave her students a flying start through part-time jobs in the world where they'd soon be earning a living.

She found out the employers' needs and the kinds of machines they used, then badgered the Board of Education for up-to-date equipment. She kept in touch with her graduates, always asking how the classroom could be more helpful.

And the result was that during the depression years of the Thirties, her graduates were prepared for their jobs as were only the graduates of two schools in New York and one in Baltimore.

"Happenstance." Miss A. Myrtle Hensor retired this June as head of the high school's business education department. And all through this area are uncounted numbers of former students whose careers have benefited from her roving, questioning mind which forever battled for "my students."

She is tall, with a merry smile that is at odds with her dignified manner. Behind her glasses, her eyes are wise and gentle.

"I got into this by way of accident," she says, "and I've never regretted it!" A graduate of Bristol (Pa.) High School, she had won a scholarship to college and planned to major in history and mathematics. "But I was waylaid," she laughs. She was persuaded to take a three-week introductory course in business education. She liked it so much that she stayed on and completed two years' work in 13 months.

Miss Hensor taught briefly at Easton, Pa., Muhlenberg, Downingtown, Reading and Jenkintown before "finding my way to Princeton. I was younger than some of my students when I started out. I remember two senior boys who were older than I. They'd try to find out how old I was and I had a stock answer: 'Not older than 25!'"

Cooperative Plan. After teaching for a while, she began studying at New York University, where she received her bachelor's and master's degrees. "I was studying trends," she says, "when this idea struck me for the cooperative plan."

"It wasn't too easy during the depression, but now I usually have to refuse some of the requests for trainees that come in. I had to sell the employers on the idea at first, but I've not had to do any selling since, because they were so pleased."

Miss Hensor's method was to get her supply and demand lined up after Christmas. "I tried to send the students out on at least two interviews — so that they could do some picking." She gets three reports on their work: one in two weeks ("If there's somebody in the wrong spot, I'll know it"), then there's a report at the end of six weeks and the last during May, when the program ends.

Her school program has grown from three commercial subjects to encompass three major lines of study: accounting, secretarial and clerical. Twenty-five percent of the graduates, Miss Hensor says, go on to college.

Common Sense. Another innovation is the general business course, not given in many schools, which covers the "business knowledge a citizen needs to know—such as taxes, insurance as it affects you as an individual, payroll as it affects you and a little of the economic principals. It is open to academic students and some 50 have signed up for it for fall." Another elective is half economics and half business law, also open to academic students, through Miss Hensor's concern for the practicalities.

Miss Hensor is an active member of eleven professional organizations. "I feel that each of them has something to offer and my purpose here has been to keep the department abreast of business conditions."

She served two two-year terms as president of the Business and Professional Women and as vice-president of the state organization. She is a former president of the New Jersey Business Education Association and a life member of Delta Phi Epsilon.

One of her pleasures is her ties with former students. "Many are very successful businessmen and women. Some have become good friends of mine — some I hear from at Christmas time — some I never expect to hear from get in touch and tell me what they think I have done for them."

Miss A. Myrtle Hensor

"Every now and then somebody pops up and says, 'Do you remember me?' or 'I'll get a letter.' 'See, Miss Hensor, I am still working where you placed me as a cooperative. I've been promoted ...'"

Fresh Page. Her plans for the future include some intensive gardening at her home at 65 Darann Avenue. "I like something for each season. You know, annuals for cutting, roses, and I like petunias for a border around my evergreens. Both of my parents loved flowers, dahlias were father's favorite."

She intends to do a lot of reading — especially history. She operates two bird-feeding stations in her yard (225 pounds of feed last winter) and the next project is a bird bath. "And maybe I'll do some tutoring. I suppose a teacher never really gives up."

how SMALL does your dollar

After all you've heard about the shrinking dollar, it is still the surest medium of exchange. And regardless of what anyone says, it is still good to have.

Your income dollar pays for life's necessities—it pays your taxes and it keeps your personal business solvent . . . but only a part of the money you receive is yours to keep. Only a fraction of the cash that travels through your hands is yours and yours alone.

You can manage your money best by regularly depositing a part of your earnings in a Princeton Bank personal savings account. You can be prepared for a "rainy day" when it comes.

Saving money regularly pays two ways. You are paid to lend us your money, in the form of interest. AND—you save 10% or more when you buy for cash, by not having to pay for borrowing some one else's money.

The magic key to independence is SAVING—at the Princeton Bank office closest to you.

GOING BACK in Town Topics

FIVE YEARS AGO

July 17, 1958: Sharp in contrast to this year's prolonged drought, a 48-hour period in July drenched Princeton with more rain than is normal for the entire month. In a stretch of two days, 3.10 inches soaked the area, causing minor flooding problems. And before July was ten days old, rainfall for 1958 had already topped all of the precipitation recorded in 1957.

Borough Council was involved in discussions aimed at alleviating Princeton's steadily-growing parking problems. Two off-street lots were being eyed: the Joseph Skirm property at 253 Nassau Street, between Olden and Murray, and the area between Vandeventer and Moore, bounded by Nassau on the south and Park Place on the north.

History revealed that negotiations for the Skirm property died aborning but the latter "dream" is a reality today. Ribbon-cutting ceremonies for Park Place parking were held this past spring, ten long years after it was first earmarked for such use (see below.)

Also on the scene five years ago:

Postal rates for first class mail were due for an increase on August 1, with four cents scheduled to be the new figure . . . Peter F. Rothenmel arrived in town to succeed Henry B. Ross as headmaster of Princeton Country Day School . . . the University Players, who had a summer season under way in Murray Theatre, failed to charm audiences with a curtain that was consistently 25 minutes late in rising.

Miss Fine's School, planning its first Festival of the Arts for fall viewing, named Mrs. Augustus K. Mills as general chairman . . . Norman Fowler was scheduled to be inducted as commander of Princeton Post 76, American Legion . . . Charles A. Hurford, Mayor of Princeton Township, conducted a lengthy, steam-heated (by July humidity and sharp variance of opinion) hearing on an ordinance to restrict hunting and the discharge of firearms in the municipality.

TEN YEARS AGO

July 17, 1953: Off-street parking? It was in the news ten years ago, too, much more violently than in 1958. Battle lines were drawn in literal fashion over Mayor Sturges' proposal to buy property along Tulane and Spring Streets, with feeling extremely high on both sides.

A "Committee for the Preservation of Princeton Property" charged that the Mayor and Mrs. Sturges would benefit personally from creation of the off-street parking lot because it would increase the value of land owned by a corporation of which he was president by $30 to $40,000. John F. Hoff, Jr. was chairman of the committee.

Mayor Sturges replied to the charges with the comment that the mayor and council were merely enacting a recommendation for off-street parking made as far back as 1929 in the Borough's first Master Plan. He declared that his financial interest in the corporation under discussion was such that for every $1,000 of its increase in value, he would realize about $3 and pointed out that Jack Lahiere's Garage, tenant of the building owned by the corporation, felt creation of an off-street lot there would force it out of business.

"It appears questionable," the Mayor's statement said, "whether the loss of a valued tenant of many year's standing would increase the value of any property or would be welcomed by any owner."

Council then passed by 5 to

1 (with John W. Stalker dissenting) an ordinance to spend $206,000 on the acquisition of land to create three off-street parking lots: between Nassau and Spring, east of Tulane; between Nassau and Park Place; and between Nassau and William Streets (the Skirm property.)

Footnote to history: opponents of the ordinance forced it to be placed on the November ballot as a referendum, and it was beaten by slightly more than 2 to 1. Ten years later, this is the score: the Skirm property site was abandoned as a potential lot; it required a decade to create the Park Place lot which is now in use; and the Lahiere-Kane building will now be razed to make way for off-street parking to compensate for space lost when the Public Library is built on a portion of the Wiggins-Witherspoon Street lot.

The 1953 Mayor and Council, originally beaten but always unbowed, said then that its planning was in terms of "the next 10 to 15 years." History showed that a majority of its concept of the Borough's needs was accurately forecast.

Princeton's Ground Observer Corps, designed to spot aircraft for protection against low-level sneak attacks, had completed a year of unbroken, round-the-clock operation at its post on lower Springdale Road, and was about to receive a citation from the Eastern Air Defense Command . . . The town's fourth traffic light went into service at the intersection of Nassau and Harrison Streets.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

Town Topics, July 15, 1948. Princeton University placed an ad in Town Topics urging residents of Princeton with suitable accommodations for one or more undergraduates to register at the Dormitory Office. Its 1948-49 enrollment was 3,400 students, as opposed to 3,000 today.

The YMCA acquired five acres of land between John Street and Bayard Lane as a start to its first real home, but did not begin to build until eight years later. Princeton Country Day School had already broken ground for a new wing, and planned to add a gymnasium-auditorium a year later . . . The Post Office was still looking for a second building.

Signs of the times: The Joan Comins Employment Agency advertised for a "rapid, accurate typist" at $35 a week or a "poised, capable secretary" at $40 a week . . . Dorothy Lamour, Paulette Goddard and Burgess Meredith were starred in "In Our Merry Way" at the Playhouse . . . The State Department of Motor Vehicles announced plans to provide car owners with permanent license plates — provided it could solve the aluminum shortage that persisted throughout the post-war years.

FREEDOMLAND TRIP SET
 By YMCA. The YMCA's second annual Gra-Y and Junior High Freedomland Bus Trip has been scheduled for Wednesday, July 31. "Y" Members and leaders will leave the YMCA at 9:30, and return at 4:30.

All trip reservations and money must be turned into the YMCA office no later than Wednesday, July 24. For further information, call the YMCA office, WA 4-4825.

HANDBOOK AVAILABLE
 For Lawrence Township. A new directory of Lawrence Township officials and agencies is being distributed to residents by a committee under the direction of Joseph Mahan and Herman W. Hansler, Democratic candidates for township committee.

Facts supplied include responsibility of each municipal body and agency, time and place of meetings, emergency phone numbers for police, fire department, first aid squad and Civil Defense. Also listed are the names and addresses of public and parochial schools, churches, volunteer fire companies and the election districts' voting places.

The handbook includes a township map showing public buildings, industries, churches, fire houses, recreation areas and boundaries of the election districts.

This is the fourth consecutive year that the Democratic candidates for township committee have sponsored the directory.

HOURS CHANGED
 For Station on Baby Care. The Borough Board of Health's "Baby Keep Well" Station will be held in the future at the Princeton Visiting Nurse's office, Suite U, in the Medical Arts Building, 253 Witherspoon Street. The hours are on Thursdays from 1 to 2, beginning this week.

SWIMMERS ALERTED
 To Ear Infections. Simple precautions against infections of the outer ear have been cited by members of the Princeton Hospital ear, nose and throat and pediatric staffs.

The doctors advise putting rubbing alcohol in each ear after swimming to prevent infection which usually develops in ears not properly dried. Children particularly should be guarded against infected ears, which are not only painful, but may make it impossible for the child to go swimming again during the season.

Aquatic Show Planned

The 10th anniversary of the River Road Recreation Association pool will be celebrated at 1 p.m., Sunday, July 28. The program includes exhibitions of synchronized swimming, fancy diving and life saving, as well as swimming competitions.

All parents are invited to attend the celebration and to swim in the pool at the close of the program. The pool, built and operated free of charge by Linus R. Gilbert, president of the Kingston Trap Rock Company, has registered 20,000 youngsters in the past decade. Four thousand have been taught to swim at the pool.

"España Rhapsodie," a military march by Beethoven and selections from "Gigi."

W. Bruce McKinney, founder and former director of the Community Band, will lead the Trenton Pops Orchestra in its third concert Sunday. Open to the public free of charge, the concert will begin at 7 p.m. in the Cadwalader Park band shell.

FAMILY OUTING SET
 By Young Democrats. The annual family outing sponsored by the Mercer County Young Democrats will be held this Thursday beginning at 5 p.m. at the Hopewell Valley Golf Club. Peter Cascone is chairman.

Food, refreshments and music will be offered at the outing, to be held on the pavilion in the picnic grove. Tickets are available there or in advance from any member of the club.

CARNIVAL TO BE HELD
 By YMCA Day Camp. The third annual YMCA World Service Carnival, the highlight of period two of the YMCA's Day Camp, will be held this Thursday from 12:30 to 4 at the Hun School. The affair will feature nine booths ranging from sponge throwing to strength testing, manned by the campers and staff.

The campers have donated their favorite toys to be used as prizes, and all proceeds will be donated to the Librarian YMCA. Last year the Carnival netted $30 for this cause.

George Povallitis, camp director, has announced that only a few more registrants can be accepted for the camp's fourth period, which runs from August 5 through 16. Parents' Day will be held on Thursday, August 13, and will feature a decathlon, a watermelon race and a final finishing contest with dozens of goldfish for the campers to catch and take home. Awards will be given to those campers who have completed swimming tests.

CONSERVATION THEME

Of Y Camping Program. The Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association is sponsoring a conservation program for the two YMCA camps. Counsellors at the day camp at the Hun School, for boys aged 6 through 9, are taught the need for water conservation, erosion control and natural history identification.

Otto W. Kunkel of Pennington, a state forester, is instructing the campers on tree identification and good woodland use. Practical problems of conservation are illustrated at the camp.

Roger campers, aged 10 and 11, are given tours of the watershed area by the Association.

40 Year's Experience

Person To Person

Cory S. Kammler is one of the significant advances of modern civilization. There is, of course, no question about the twentieth century being the one that brought women (God bless 'em) into their own, on a plateau of full equality in virtually every phase of life. But, the speaker told us, "It is interesting to learn from authoritative sources that there were periods even in ancient societies, when the ladies had practically complete freedom and rights of their own which were respected and protected." For example, in Babylonia, more than 4,000 years ago, a woman could hold property in her own name, could engage in trade and commerce, and could defend or start and maintain actions at law. And many businesses were partnerships between husband and wife. Their laws had many protections for the wife, even against divorce, and it seems that equality was more the rule than the exception, which is another proof of how far advanced were the civilizations of various periods of antiquity. Thank goodness in our business we have many customers of the fair sex, perhaps we cater so much to them and give them every convenience and evidence of our respect and appreciation. Whoever said, "Never underestimate the power of a woman," coined a truism, and we might coin one of our own: "Never underestimate the judgment of a woman!" BUSINESS In Princeton

CAN COMPANY TO BUILD

In Research Park. The American Can Co. has bought a 25½-acre tract of land at Princeton Research Park.

The New York manufacturing corporation is planning to build a large research and development facility on the $205,000 site adjoining the properties of Opinion Research Corp. and the New Jersey Bankers' Association on Harrison Street North.

According to William H. Dinsmore, American Can Co. executive, the initial 40,000-square-foot building will be staffed by approximately 80 employees, most of them research scientists. Ground-breaking exercises for the structure will be held on July 31, and plans call for completion of the building by early 1964.

According to Arthur R. Wengel, representative of the research park, American Can Co.'s new laboratories will bring to 53 the number of organizations in the Princeton area now engaged in various branches of experimental and developmental research including outer space, nuclear energy, marketing and opinion surveys.

The American Can Co. transaction was arranged by Albert M. Greenfield and Co. of Philadelphia and Louis Schlesinger Co. of Newark.

AUGUST 1 IS DEADLINE

For Business Tax Form. Alan F. Hart, Supervisor of the state's Local Property Tax Bureau, has announced that an official notice has been mailed to all owners of business personal property in New Jersey, reminding them that they have only until August 1 to file business personal property informational return forms.

The reminder card that is being mailed to all business and professional men who received the informational return booklet in early June states that legislation provides for those who fail to file the form by August 1. Mr. Hart said that a letter of explanation is not an adequate substitute for the completed form.

Mr. Hart has added that "the form has been so simplified that most businessmen can complete it in a short time by simply referring to 1962 Federal Income Tax records." He pointed out that a businessman whose business personal property does not exceed $25,000 net book value has only two figures to obtain in filing his return.

Failure to receive the form by mail does not relieve the businessman of the responsibility of filing by August 1. Blank forms are available at the offices of the local assessors, at the offices of the county boards of taxation, or by mail, at the Local Property Tax Bureau, Statistical Section, Box 1998, Trenton 25, N.J.

SALES INCREASE NOTED

By Sylvan Pools, Sylvan Pools, Inc., of Doylestown, Pa., which maintains an office at the Princeton Shopping Center, has announced a 31% increase in pool sales for the year to date. Sales for the month of June totaled $12 million, the best June in the company's 17-year history.

John W. Larsen, vice-president - sales for Sylvan, has pointed out that of the 125 pool building commitments for June, more than 50% of the volume was in commercial pool construction being built for hotels, motels, new home developments and community swim clubs. He attributed the increased amount of commercial pools sold this June to consumer demand which has prompted virtually every builder and developer to include a swimming pool in their planning.

CUSHINE JOINS BUTLER

In Landscape Architecture. George F. Cushine, formerly of Darien, Conn., has become associated with H. Russell Butler Jr. of 10 Nassau Street in the practice of landscape architecture and site planning.

Mr. Cushine has previously been with the New York State Department of Public Works and the firms of Brown and Blauvelt in New York City, Harland Bartholomew and Associates of St. Louis, and Sherwood, Mills and Smith in Stamford, Conn. Messrs. Butler and Cushine are now engaged in planning the Old Soldiers Home in Menlo Park for the State of New Jersey and the New Jersey School for the Deaf in West Trenton.

BRIGHT RE-ELECTED

As President of Film Company. Frederick W. Bright of 3 Palmer Square West has been re-elected President of Industrial Education Films, Inc. by the board of directors following the annual stockholder meeting.

The company produces, promotes and distributes world-wide audio-visual materials including films designed to indoctrinate and educate operating and management personnel. The company also distributes the McGraw-Hill library of business education films.

HEAD CHEF LEAVING

At Princeton Inn 18 Years. Livorno Ruberto, executive chef at the Princeton Inn since 1945, is leaving this Saturday to open his own restaurant in Pensacola in September. Samuel E. Stewart, manager of the inn, has announced that Joseph Pirone, sous chef for ten years, will assume Mr. Ruberto's position.

Mr. Ruberto came here from Italy in 1939 and his first job at the inn was pantry apprentice, paying $1 a day plus room and board. Following service in Normandy and Germany during World War II, he was named executive chef at the age of 26.

Among Mr. Ruberto's responsibilities have been the renovation of the kitchen in 1954, purchasing and supervising 30 employees. His wife, Jane, has operated their liquor store in Pensacola since 1960.

TWO JOIN AGENCY

Mutual Benefit Expands. Glenn H. Ensminger and Robert E. Gendron have joined the Princeton Agency of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company, 20 Nassau Street, after completing a two-week seminar at the Company's home office in Newark.

Mr. Ensminger, a resident of Levittown, Pa., has been elected President of the Levittown Junior Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Gendron, who lives in North Brunswick and was formerly with Johnson & Johnson, received the Man of the Year award from the State of Connecticut Junior Chamber of Commerce in 1955.

RCA Earnings Up 23%

Earnings reported by the Radio Corporation of America for the first six months of 1963 are 23% greater than the corresponding period a year ago, President Elmer W. Engstrom has announced.

Second-quarter earnings are 27% greater than in 1962, he said. This marks the ninth consecutive period in which RCA earnings have topped the comparable quarter of the previous year.

Profits for the three months ending June 30 were $121 million after taxes, achieved on record sales totaling $441 million. Earnings per common share totaled 65 cents, compared with 51 cents in 1962. First-half earnings are $1.60 for 1963 and $1.32 a year ago.

SPLIT DECISION: Mike Pinelli (left) picks Sonny Liston and Marvin Carmen names Floyd Patterson to win the upcoming rematch between the two heavyweights. It is just as close among the other respondents, nine choosing Liston to repeat and eight naming Patterson to come back.

Question of the Week

Question: Who do you think will win the Liston-Patterson rematch?

Where asked: Nassau Street.

Michael Pinelli, Hamilton Square, co-owner of Carousel Luncheonette: Liston inside of five rounds. He has a big psychological advantage because he beat Patterson so easily in their first fight. Liston is exceptionally fast for a big man.

Marvin Carmen, 46 Wilton Street, assistant manager of Carousel Luncheonette: I think Patterson will win because he has faster hands and more finesse in the ring. I don't think Patterson will knock him out but he should win by decision. I think Liston was just lucky in the first fight.

Ralph Procaccino, 207 Ewing Street, Borough patrolman: Liston is going to win but Rocky Marciano could have beaten both of them on the same night. Liston is too big and too powerful for Patterson. It won't last longer than three rounds.

Joseph Magee, Hopewell, butcher at Nassau Inn: Liston is going to win. There is no question about that unless it is fixed to go the other way. I don't think it will last longer than three rounds.

John Conole, 40 Witherspoon Street, broker for Mercer-Princeton Agency: I think Patterson will go all the way and win by a decision. I think he has more ring savvy than Liston.

William J. Wood, 90 Nassau Street, insurance agent for Walter B. Howe: Liston will kill him. I don't think Patterson has a chance; he won't last any longer than five rounds. I think this Sonny Liston has a tremendous amount of confidence which is a big thing to a fighter. Just like Clay. But if Liston ever meets Clay, Liston will write the poetry.

Carl Williams, Trenton, chauffeur for Senator Smith: I'll put my money on Patterson. They all have a comeback, you know. Patterson wasn't in good shape the first time and I just feel he is going to come back and I think a lot of other people feel the same way about it. I feel Patterson is going to try for a knockout to sort of even the score against Liston but it is hard to say how it will end.

Mark Stange, 19 Hamilton Avenue, Princeton High School football manager: I think Liston is so much stronger er he should take it. The fight won't go the distance. Whoever wins will win by a knockout, that's a cinch. It is possible for it to go either way, but I lean toward Liston because he is stronger.

John Pringle, 140 Witherspoon Street handyman for Labiere Kane Boxing is a racket. That's the way I feel about it. They've got it fixed so Patterson will win this one, probably by a knockout in the fifth. Liston wins one time, Patterson the next. I feel in the third fight Liston will win again and Patterson will retire.

Edward Hauser, Nyack, N.Y., roofer: Liston will murder Patterson. I'd like to see Patterson murder Liston because Liston is a big stiff, but Liston will flatten him in the sixth. Liston is old. He's got to get him early. If it goes any more than six, then Patterson will win. I'm a Patterson fan but Liston has it all over him. Patterson is a clean-living guy; Liston is a hum.

John D. Cashill, 14 Clearview Avenue, Princeton University maintenance: I don't see how Liston can lose. He's not going to mull the chance to make all the money in the world in a fight with Clay. He can't make any money fighting Patterson all the time. It won't last over three rounds.

Ernest Chester, Lawrence Township, driver for Farr Hardware: Liston. I think Liston is out of Patterson's class. It definitely will end in a kayo. I don't think it will go any more than five rounds.

Charles Scratchard, 172 Kendall Park, Princeton postal carrier: I think Liston will win. He's a killer from the word go. He's been brought up in the streets. I say Liston should win by the seventh round.

Rick Fiori, Trenton, barber, DeLuxe Barber Shop, 244 Nassau Street: I pick Liston by a knockout in the fourth round. I think Liston is an all-round better fighter. Patterson? He hasn't shown anybody anything.

Joe Meyers, 118 Linden Lane, mechanic: I have a feeling that Patterson will come back and win it. I think he'll knock Liston out in about the fourth round.

Bill Goodwin, Levittown, Pa., station attendant for Mulhern's Sunoco Station, Nassau Street, Patterson. He is the only ex-champion to regain his

THE NET RESULT of the final matches of the YMCA women's singles tennis tournament held Saturday at the University Courts was not unexpected. Once again, Miss Dede Shipway (left) won the title, defeating Jody Wimberg in straight sets, 6-3, 6-4. Awarding the trophies is Dr. Milton G. White of Princeton University, a member of the YMCA tennis committee. (Staff Photo)

MISS SHIPWAY WINS
Repeats as Champion. Miss Dede Shipway is still Princeton's top woman tennis player. On Saturday, she extended her rule for another year when she annexed the YMCA women's singles tournament crown with a straight-set defeat of Jody Wimberg. The scores were 6-3, 6-4. Other contestants in the tourney included Dorothy Katz, Grace Ramus, Joan O'Donoghue, Lillian Ashley, Elaine Fox, Bowie Carpenter and Alison Hubby.

Now under way is the men's singles tournament. Fifty three players are competing for the title and among them are such standouts as Fritz Dumpel, the defending champion, Alden Dunham, Martin Katz, Raja Khalifah, Ted Taylor, Don Mathey, John Gloucevitch and Carl Witonsky. Witonsky last week captured the Trenton men's singles title for the second straight year. Entries are still being accepted for the mixed doubles tournament which will be held next week. The closing date is Friday at 6 p.m. The men's double tourney will follow.

The YMCA has called attention to the fact that it inadvertently named Sherman Winters as the winner of the boys' 18 and under tournament held last week. The winner was Shawn Tully. He defeated Winters in straight sets, 6-4, 6-0.

SWEENEY WINS HANDICAP
At Springdale Golf Club, John H. Sweeney won the 36-hole handicap medal play tournament at Springdale last weekend. Sweeney, with a nine handicap, had a net 68, 70 — 138 for the two-day contest. Second was Donald P. Donahue, 10 handicap, with net 66, 76 — 142. In third place was Robert A. Mellough, who had a net 76, 68 — 144 with a 10 handicap.

PEARSON TAKES THIRD
In Handicap Air Race, Harold Pearson of 157 Mansgrove Road, flying a Cessna 210, took third place in a handicap air race from Dorado Beach, Puerto Rico, to St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands and return. The race, entered by ten light planes, was judged by points scored on gasoline used, air speed, plane weight, arrival time, landing skill and accuracy in two flour "bomb" drops on targets at Humacao and Lohos Island. It was the concluding event of the second annual Dorado Beach Fly-In.

EMR TAKES FIRST PLACE
In Business Softball, Electro-Mechanical Research won a pair of games last week in the Business Softball League to break a first-place tie with RCA. Behind 15-0 in the first game, EMR pushed across 16 runs to nip RCA, 16-15, as Paul Crea added another victory to his impressive record.

Ron Infanti drove in the winning run off Art Hahn, the losing pitcher. Vince Crivelli and Jack Gallagher both went three-for-four. Ralph Demack collected two hits and Gene Woyek hit a home run for EMR. RCA's Wally Reichart went four-for-four and Jim Clark had two home runs in his three hits.

Later in the week, EMR picked up an easy victory when Columbian Carbon had to forfeit because it did not have enough men. The twin triumphs raised EMR to .750, a game and a half ahead of RCA. Accelerator beat Scientific Electronics, 8-7, for its fourth straight victory and moved up to third place in the standings. Bob Barry pitched all the way to win, while Mike Lisi was charged with the loss.

Danny Martino knocked in the winning runs and George Cassidy and Ken Schenck both got three hits in four times at bat. Joe Castora and George Bocciafuso each had three hits for the losers.

Engineering Research Center jumped from sixth place to a tie for fourth with a 23-6 victory over Columbian Carbon. Stan Pazdan was the winning pitcher for ERC, while Bill Feirabend had four-for-five and Dan Machusak and Bob Uhl hit home runs. Don

Antique Atmosphere

The annual Old-Timers' Baseball Game is scheduled for Thursday, August 8, and plans are under way to provide suitable atmosphere for the antiques who will be dusted off for the occasion.

B. E. Bergesen Jr., who has long been running in baseball circles, reports as one of the sponsors of the Charleyhorse Classic that arrangements are being made to precede it with a parade of antique automobiles.

"The dominating thought is one of sympathy," Bergesen explained. "Our plan is to show the Old Timers that there are other things around as ancient as they are."

Owners of vintage cars interested in parading them on August 8 are invited to notify Bergesen, Jack or Tommy Petrone or George Gallup 3d, who are serving on the committee with him.

Waltz took the loss for Columbian Carbon.

crown and I really think he will do it again. He is still in his prime, he has a long way to go yet. I think he'll knock Liston out somewhere between the tenth and fifteenth round. It will go at least ten. Liston is the faster of the two but I think Patterson is the stronger and definitely the more experienced Liston is good and he also has a very big mouth.

Gene Jackson, Monmouth Junction, gas station attendant for Kline's Esso: Patterson, because Patterson is a better fighter. I think Patterson will knock him out. I really do. Probably the sixth round. Liston is a big man but he hasn't got what it takes. He's got a big mouth. I don't think he can stay with Patterson unless he gets in a lucky punch. He had to be lucky to knockout Patterson.

Frank Townes, Trenton, demolisher: I think Patterson will kavo Liston before the fifth. I think Patterson is a much better man—he's faster. I think his punch is just as good as Liston's. I think that first fight was just a fluke win for Liston.

James Carter, Trenton, demolisher: I think Patterson will go all the way and win by decision. He's a smarter fighter. I saw the first one and I think Patterson was a little shy. I think he made a mistake by weaving and bobbing and not throwing any punches. I don't think he'll be afraid of Liston this time.

American Cyanamid operated on Princeton Hospital, 24 to 6, sending the Hospital to its tenth straight defeat. Al Pitardi, Don Conger and Edgar Riddick each had a homer in a losing cause.

ENGINE NO. 3 DISPLACED
Loses Lead to Eagles. There was a considerable amount of churning last week in the Police Baseball League. The Eagles won two to wrestle first place from Engine No. 3, which now trails by a half game. Engine No. 1 and the Sportsmen also won a pair, with Engine No. 1 moving up to third place. For the Sportsmen, it was their first two victories of the season.

In the meantime, the Elks dropped two to plummet from a second place tie to fifth place. In addition, winless Hook & Ladder and Post 76 also suffered double setbacks to lose ground. A protested game between the Lions and Engine No. 3, played earlier, will be completed from the point of protest.

Two well-pitched games moved the Eagles to the top spot. In handing Engine Co. 3 its first setback, Jim Kopliner struck out 12 batters for an 11-1 victory. Jeff Frangos contributed his seventh home run of the campaign as he and Hank Wilkinson and Mark Stokorb provided the power.

Frangos then followed with a neat mound performance of his own. He struck out 14 and allowed only four hits to subdue Post 76, 4-2. Even more stingy with hits was Nick Ar-caro, the losing pitcher. He yielded only three. Engine No. 3 retaliated with a 13-6 triumph over Hook & Ladder to remain just one game back. A barrage of hits off the bats of George Cevera, Bob Sweeney and Chip Hall broke the game open in the fourth inning. Tony Challea was the winning pitcher.

Though Engine No. 1 was able to lay claim to third place on the strength of two 6-3 victories, it sustained a setback, nevertheless, when it learned that Bobby McCloskey, its top hurler, suffered a head injury and will be out of action for an indefinite period. In other action, the Lions split a pair to remain in fourth place.

By this time, only one thing seems certain in the league: It looks like a long season for Hook & Ladder.

TWO ROUTS REGISTERED
In Girls Softball League. Undefeated Thorne's and second-place Warriors recorded easy victories last week over ERC and Princeton Hospital in the Princeton Girls' Softball League. The scores were 34 to 1 and 23 to 9.

Thorne's was led by its catcher, Pat Boone, who connected for three home runs. Although the losers rapped out 14 hits, they managed to cross the plate only once. Their lone run came in the fifth when losing pitcher Dot Vorhees singled home Bev Burenga from second.

Meanwhile, the Warriors expected no trouble from the Hospital and got none. The fine Warrior battery of Lillian Bargholz and Hannah Lowery paced the rout, while Carol Osborne absorbed the loss.

TENNIS CLINIC PLANNED
During Junior Matches. Ed Faulkner, tennis coach of Swarthmore College, will again be present at the Mercer County Junior Tennis Tournament, to be held on the Princeton University courts July 29 through August 2. Faulkner will be on hand on Wednesday, July 31, to work with tennis instructors from the surrounding area, and to observe as many young players as possible and speak to them individually. Faulkner will also be in Princeton on Wednesday, July 24, to instruct students enrolled in the Princeton Community Tennis Program. He will work with the advanced students during the morning, and attend beginner classes in the afternoon, after a luncheon. —Continued on Page 27

News Of The CHURCHES

TO LAY CORNERSTONE
At Hopewell Church, The Rev. Edward Thorn, pastor of Hopewell Methodist Church, will lay the cornerstone for the new church building at 11 on Sunday. The present church will be converted into a church school.

Taking part in the ceremonies will be Lester Murphy, son of Hopewell Methodist's first minister; James Ferguson, associate lay leader of the New Jersey Methodist Conference; Porter Brashier and Graham Benson, representing the executive committee of the building campaign, and contractors Harry Hey, Jlaty Bloor and C. H. McAllister.

Tea will be served by the women's group following the ceremony.

TO HEAR GUEST CLERGY
In Area Churches, Four guest preachers are scheduled to conduct worship services this Sunday in Princeton area churches.

Obituaries

George Matthews, 81, of 55 Murray Place died July 12 at Princeton Hospital. He was the husband of Jennie Brown Matthews.

A native of Philadelphia Mr. Matthews had been associated with the Matthews Construction Company in Princeton for the past 30 years. He was a member of the Second Presbyterian Church, and a former member of Mercer Engine Company No. 3 of Princeton.

Also surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Mary Johnston of Selinsgrove, Pa. and Mrs. Margaret M. Dougherty of Philadelphia. The service was held at the Mather Funeral Home with the Rev. Dr. William L. Tucker officiating. Interment was in Kingston Cemetery.

Miss Annie U. Yard, 86, of 72 West Broad Street, Hopewell, died July 10 at her home after a lengthy illness.

Born in Hamilton Township, Mrs. Yard lived in Hopewell for the past 45 years. She is survived by her husband, John S. Yard; a sister, Mrs. Mary Tindall of Windsor; and several nieces and nephews.

The service was held at the Cromwell Memorial Home in Hopewell. Interment was in the Old School Baptist Cemetery.

Fred A. Robins, 93, a lifelong resident of Dutch Neck, died July 12 at Foothill Acres Nursing Home, Neshanic, after a long illness.

He was a retired miller and a member of the Dutch Neck Presbyterian Church, where he had formerly been superintendent of the Sunday School for 25 years. Husband of the late Mrs. Vinnie D. Robins. Mr. Robins is survived by several nieces and nephews.

The service was held at the A.S. Cole Funeral Home, Cranbury, with the Rev. James Weaver, pastor of the Dutch Neck Presbyterian Church, officiating. Interment was in Dutch Neck Cemetery.

Mrs. Grace Hoagland, 61, of 8 Green Street died July 12. Widow of Frederick Hoag.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Jesse H. Hoagland, Jr., wishes to express deep gratitude and thanks to one and all of the many people for their kindnesses and thoughtfulness during his illness and at the time of his death.

The family of the late

wishes to express heartfelt thanks to their friends and neighbors for the many kindnesses shown during their recent bereavement.

Mrs. Nancy Deyo and family land, she is survived by a son, Leo, two daughters, Mrs. Grace Young and Mrs. Sarah Lewis; a sister, Mrs. Essie Brown, all of Princeton; a brother, Chester Gilchrist of Lyons; and seven grandchildren.

The service was held at the Witherspoon Presbyterian Church with the Rev. David McAlpin officiating. Interment was in Princeton Cemetery.

Charles E. Ralph, 49, of 24 Lafayette Street, Hopewell, was dead on arrival at the Hunterdon Medical Center, July 13, after suffering a heart attack at his home. A machinist for the Rockwell Manufacturing Company, he was a member of the Hopewell Fire Company and was chief of the fire police.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Gladys M. Ralph; four daughters, Mrs. John Cirello, Mrs. Benedict Taormina and the Misses Carol and Mary Ralph of Hopewell; two sisters, Mrs. William Smith of Trenton and Mrs. Charles Moffett of Beach Haven; and two grandsons.

The funeral was held from the Cromwell Memorial Home in Hopewell. Requiem high mass was celebrated in St. Alphonsus Church with interment in the parish cemetery.

meeting with the instructors. Faulkner's visit is in conjunction with his summer duties with the Middle States Junior Development Committee, co-sponsors of the tournament with the Mercer County Park Commission.

Chairmen of the tournament, which features divisions for boys and girls 16 and under, 14 and under and 12 and under, are: Bernard Forer, Trenton High School coach; Daniel Haggerty, supervisor of tennis in Trenton; and Mrs. Lewis S. Kraft, Director of the Princeton Community Tennis Program. Randy Linthurst of Rider College and Forer are handling the publicity, and William Humes, varsity tennis coach of Princeton High School, is financial chairman.

Joe Jingo, Playground Director of Lawrence Township and Director of Athletics of Princeton High School, and Norman Van Arsdale, Director of Physical Education of Princeton Township Schools, are co-chairmen of registration. Umpires are under the supervision of Bayard Jordan of Princeton and Donn West of Lawrenceville.

Hospitality chairmen are Mrs. Douglas Corlette and Mrs. Martin Katz, assisted by Mrs. Russell Ashley, Mrs. Howard Fox, Mrs. Elric Endersby and Mrs. John O'Donoghue. Entry blanks may be obtained from the committee members or at the Princeton University courts.

BASEBALL CLINIC SET

For Boys 15-18. A YMCA Baseball Clinic for boys 15-18 years old, begun this week, will continue every Wednesday through August 28 from 6-8:30 p.m. Jack Lackey, a pitcher for the Rider College Baseball team who holds the Rider record for the greatest number of consecutive victories (ten), will be the director.

OFFICERS ELECTED

By Children's Home. The Children's Home Society in Trenton has elected officers to serve for the coming year. They are: John E. Mueller of Pennington, president; Lee A. Wiley, second vice-president; Waymah Barber of Pennington, secretary and assistant treasurer; Meredith E. Johnson, treasurer; and John B. Sill Jr., assistant secretary.

Among the directors named to three-year terms are Bruce Bedford Jr., Mrs. Edward I. Katzenbach and James W. West, all of Princeton; Dr. Charles S. Papier of Pennington, and Charles J. Weiser Jr. of Lawrenceville.

The Society is a member of the Princeton United Community Fund.

TEST TO BE HELD

For Peace Corps Volunteers. A Peace Corps placement test will be administered on Saturday, July 20, at 8:30 a.m., the last testing opportunity for those who hope to enter training for a Peace Corps assignment in September or October. The non-competitive test must be taken by anyone interested in becoming a Peace Corps volunteer.

Those selected for training will spend 10 to 12 weeks on a college campus or at a Peace Corps' camp in Puerto Rico, studying the language, history and culture of their host country, and American affairs. Volunteers agree to serve two years in the Peace Corps, including training time.

The minimum age for volunteer service is 18, but there is no upper age limit. Married couples may serve if they have no dependents and if both husband and wife qualify for the same project. Princeton area residents may take the examination at either the Main Post Office in New Brunswick or Room 502, Federal Building, 402 East State Street, Trenton.

New Western Borough Listing — $55,000

If it's your type, this middle-aged, middle-sized frame house has enormous charm. We'll say fast that it needs decorating throughout, has a sunny, cheerful but old-fashioned kitchen, and 2 of its 3 baths are un-modern. Now for the important things:

Space — Entrance hall flanked by closets, big living room with contemporary fireplace, window wall overlooking remnants of a darling formal garden and view through a glass-enclosed porch of gorgeous trees; large dining ell easily separable; study with fireplace, 1st floor guest room & bath, four 2nd floor bedrooms (2 with fireplaces); 2 baths.

Location — Set far back on one of Princeton's loveliest streets, surrounded by planting, it has not only exclusiveness but seclusiveness!

Cost — The house needs money to bring it up to its full potential, but the amount you spend is up to you. It can be comfortably and safely (new wiring, modern heater) lived in as is.

YOUNG CHILDREN? Here in the tall timber, on two beautiful acres far from the main highway, is this fine home with 4 bedrooms, 3½ baths (and a second floor where heat and water lines, already installed, make it possible to add 2 or 3 more bedrooms and another bath). Living room with fireplace, separate dining room, spring-fed pond waiting for your swan. Price on request.

FOUR BEDROOMS . . . and across the road from a beautiful park where Stony Brook meanders through to make it a playground for the youngsters. 2 baths (space for a third), 10 closets, large study, living area air-conditioned in a nearby village. $39,000.

IN HOPEWELL . . . fine old residence with big back yard. Living room and separate dining room both have fireplaces. Floors are wide, knotty pine planks. New baseboard heating. 4 bedrooms, 1½ baths. Space in attic for more bedrooms. $28,500.

CHARMING CAPE COD . . . on a quiet street near the lake and schools, this delightful red-shingled classic, with its lovely terrace and fine back yard, deserves your consideration. 3 bedrooms (and a den which can make a fourth), 2 baths, dining room, recreation room. Very appealing. $44,000.

BIG FAMILY? 5 bedrooms, 2 baths . . . and to promote the domestic tranquility, both a study and a playroom. Here is a fine home near the Shopping Center, the New York express bus and the Littlebrook school. $28,600.

A HALF ACRE . . . close to the lake, with a home that combines the charm of a Colonial with the convenience of a split level. Separate dining room with enclosed porch, playroom, 3 bedrooms, 2½ baths. $34,500.

SPACIOUS & SUPERIOR . . . 4 double bedrooms, 3 full baths. Separate dining room. From its traditional center hall and its living room embellished with a charming bay window to its comfortable family room, with French doors leading to the terrace, this fine home will appeal to people who have devoted a lot of time to looking at everything. $47,500.

IN FINGERS TOWN . . . on 1½ acres with magnificent trees, this is, perhaps, Princeton's finest home for the small family. Vast living-dining area, air-conditioned, with a tall cathedral ceiling; 2 bedrooms, 2 baths, many closets with built-in features to save space. Created by a distinguished architect for retirement in luxury, it is also ideal for a young couple who entertain a lot. $68,000.

WE APOLOGIZE ON QUOTING the wrong price! We thought this house a good buy at $35,000. The price is $34,000 — and still available much to our amazement! Let us personally show you and your entire family this lovely home at your earliest convenience. CARNEGIE LAKE AREA. Three bedroom, 2 1/2 bath TRI LEVEL. 32 x 14 playroom, fireplace in living room, air-conditioner in master bedroom. Brick-faced, lovely trees. Princeton Township.

EAGLES NEST is the word to describe the location and view of this year old BI-LEVEL. Your broker saw this house this morning at our open house. Call him and ask about the FOUR BEDROOM HOUSE OF THE WEEK. Asking $28,500

VICTORIAN describes the house's age — 1837 to 1901. However, the owner has replaced the heating system, wiring system and baths — put a modern touch to the kitchen — Result? A well-constructed house with all the charm of yesterday — spacious living area not available today at this reasonable price. Four bedroom. Expansion area on 3rd floor. Asking $28,500
